

26 April 1957

Note For Mr. Houston

Regarding The Proposed Legal Handbook:

1. I propose to revise [redacted] outline slightly and to devise a numbering system which would permit addenda to be fitted in at the proper place.
2. What would you think of asking certain support offices to work up material on their procedures and techniques (such as the one done for the DD/S last December on proprietaries)? Any legal study prepared in even partial ignorance of related administrative techniques would certainly lack a dimension.
3. Would you let me know what handbook subjects you think deserve the earliest attention; since I am drafting a regulation on conflicts of interest, why don't I work up some handbook material on that subject at the same time.

STATINTL

[redacted] STATINTL